Margie Over U.S.C. Trojans Was Small.

Shattuck Breaks Hammer Throw Record.

U.S.C. Wins Six Firsts in Running Events.

BY OWEN B. HILL.

The gas went down yesterday on one of the most soul stirring track and field meets ever staged on the famous Hayward cinder track, when the knights of the gold from the University of California battled bravely with the knights of the University of Southern California. It was a great fight with the Trojans on the uphill and all the way but not a man faltered and when the final count was taken the score stood Berkeley 41-1, U.S.C. 22 1-1, the Northerners winning by the narrow margin of ten and two-thirds points. This fact was decided surprise to all the local fans and was far better than their most optimistic hopes called for.

Dean Cronwell's men took six out of the nine track events, while Walter Chrysler's Bears came home in front on every field event on the calendar and it was in this department of the affair that the North mapped it to the South.

There was not an idle moment during any of the races and many of the events brought the tide purple-faced fans, crazy to their feet, as the strutting runners fought for the yards and the tape at the finish. All six of the firsts won by the U.S.C. men came as surprises to the California natives, who were sure that the men from the northern state would win the meet by a margin of at least twenty-five points.

The crowd began to drift onto the field at 7 o'clock and when the gold van from California broke over the track and was answered by the hurrahs from the color splashed thousands of U.S.C. an air of expectancy began to pervade the air. The California old guard was not in force and took an entire section of the grand stand and spent the afternoon spitting the words, "When the crowd was settled, the result of the hammer throw was announced and when Mr. Stetson said that Shattuck was credited with a heave of 140 ft. 10 in. the stands went crazy. U.S.C. and Berkeley men joining in a mighty cheer for the steady little man who is now the greatest college hammer thrower in the United States. Despite the fact that this was a good record, when it was announced that Her also took second with a heave of 130 ft. giving Fred Kelly of U.S.C. a long lead for third, a shout greeted for a time gave the field and Cardinal of U.S.C. The mile race next and H. Wood from California ramblled over the line fifteen yards in front of Linton Smith of U.S.C., who got second. Crabbe took third. More points for the northern Blue and Gold. The score board looked all California and the wise ones was saying, "I told you so."

THE DASHES.

Then the 100-yard dash was served up and U.S.C. reported with a slam that was heard all over the West and when the result was announced: Throop first and Cookman second. Paul Wood taking third. Wood was not, however, running up to his farm and if he had seen Mr. Throop would have been pressed a 1000 dollar bet for first. Eight points and great rejoicing in the Trojan tent. Throop was his race at the fifty-five-yard mark going out in front and staying there. Johnny Cookman came from behind and just ahead Wood out for the second ribbon.

The high hurdles saw the North come into its own once more. This double pence is some runner and when he made fifteen and four-fifths against a head wind and on a slow track we take our hats off to him. Fred Kelly was with a hard and a hard behind and was running faster than he has ever traveled before that season. Wallace came third and was close up. California seems to have a hurdle fever and we are glad that Eddie Brown was out on the job. Three points looked pretty good here.

THE POLE VAULT.

During this the pole vault was going on and a nice thing that had with it, too. South of California was, with a jump of 11 ft. 6 in. Wallace seemed unable to get the jump yesterday and never passed his view. The rest of the points were divided between Cookman, Watkins and Taylor of California. The fact that Watkins did not win was something of a disappointment to the U. S. C. people, but all was forgotten when the 11 ft was called.

Hodge and Hayer took the straight. Hayer, the Berkeley man, looked excellent when he found that Vic Hodge was a green freshman. Dave of U.S.C. was also in the race.

The runners were off, Hodge getting a slight lead and taking the pole on the first curve. If only a freshman, Vic showed rare head work. He came out of the gate on the back stretch two yards in front then made Hayer run outside to get the pole, after which he let the Berkeley man break the wind all down the hard back stretch. On the curve he began to pick up and the U.S.C. natives came to life with a yell that split the heavens. Vic was gaining. On the last part of the curve he put his head down and swung into the second lane. Wood and took they raced for thirty yards and a terrific storm of cheers, then Hodge dived slowly to front while putting on a wonderful finishing sprint. He was going away from Meyer when they crossed the tape. This was one of the greatest quarter-mile races ever seen here and Hodge is now there as a 440 man.

CALLED TO THE MARK.

The din died a natural death just as the 220 men were called to the mark. Here Wood and Throop faced each other again. They ran even to the curve then Wood went ahead by about eighteen inches, causing a terrible groan to come from the U.S.C. bleachers. Was their idol going to be beaten? On the last fifty yards Throop went out like mad and won the race by about three yards with one of the greatest bursts of speed that he has shown this season. The time was slow, but the race was A1.

The 220-yard hurdles brought the weary fans to their feet once more as Kelly and MacIise fought it out only a yard apart. MacIise the wonder took the tape, but Kelly was right there. Mac won in 28 and 4-8 seconds, which is the best time made this season on the local track and the fact that Fred had him scared all the way shows that the big boy can keep up with the fastest company in the country.

Right here be it known that this Berkeley team, when it is right, is the best track and field squad in the United States, that is if records can be taken as any criterion. They would show any of the big fellows something take it from us.

The half-mile produced another fit among the U.S.C. rooters, though not until the last lap. Ormond Smith of Berkeley led out for the first lap and looked as though he was going to cop the first five points without a struggle. On the last lap Tipton began to creep up and when they went out of sight on the first turn behind the buildings, he was gaining rapidly. The runners burst through the gate on the other side of the field, breast to breast; then Tipton took the lead rousing the Trojan rooters to another frenzy pitch. Smith came back and picked up on the curve but Tipton had some more of that old Crossing-the-Delaware stuff and slammed her on in the home stretch winning with several yards to spare. This was absolutely unlooked for and Tipton was nearly cheered deaf.

SWIGGETT ROMPS HOME.

Well now we come to that banner event, the two-mile. One Charles Swiggett romped home fifty yards ahead of Crabbe and Terrance. The surprise in this event was terrible. Not only did Charles win by a city block but Arthur Terrance of U.S.C. took second away from Crabbe the much talked of two-mile, from Berkeley. This was the best part of the event, as Swiggett was doped to win after a hard fight, but as it was he never was worried at all. This two-mile race is getting to be one of the big card events on the programme these days and every race this season has been worth the price of admission.

The final spasm was the half-mile relay and was nearly too much for the fans, who were already in a sad state of strangulation. Hodge started for U.S.C. against Wallace of Berkeley and after losing the pole he made it up and gave Hansen a two-yard start by his great finish. Meyer and Hansen ran even, Hansen giving Johnny Cookman the same lead over MacIise of Berkeley. MacIise pulled up with a awful finish and gave Pat Wood of Berkeley a two-yard start on Waldo Throop. Throop ran behind all the way around the curve with the men in the bleachers pleading with cracked voices for more speed, but Throop was not ready for the burst yet. Little Waldo gathered himself to gather in the last seventy yards and came across with one of the most thrilling finishes ever seen in a relay. Wood ran his best, but Throop was better. You could not stop Throop yesterday, he had speed and it would have taken an Arthur Duffy to beat him. He came over the tape with the last five points of the meet after making up two and a half yards on one of the best sprinters on the Pacific Coast. Selah.
