TROJANS SLOW IN RELAY

A makeshift relay team of Trojan varisity track athletes-past, present and future-trotted around the cinder track in the Coliseum yesterday in 43.6s. in the feature event of the Playgrounds Athletic Carnival, Capt. Ed House of the Trojans suffered an attack of influenza, Charlie Sauers was working and couldn't get off, and Willie Lewis failed to appear, so Coach Dean Cromwell recruited Ken Grumbles, Weldon Draper and Rocky Kemp to aid Charlie Borah in the dash.

Draper, an incligible sprinter this year, turned in a fair effort, Kemp, who had confined his sprinting to spring football, failed to show anything to write home about, and Grumbles, hurdle star of 1925-26, didn't have much speed. Borah turned in his usual good exhibition, but the total effort wasn't much. A San Pedro playground relay team rambled the same distance in 47s. just before the Trojan athletes ran around.

As far as the playgrounds were concerned, the meet was a howling success. Every variety of sport for man, woman and child occupied the spotlight at one time or another, and a good time was apparently had by all.
