All Trojans but Reynolds and Miller Quality; Stanford Has Most Athletes in Finals

Results of the I.C.A.A.A. track meet at Cambridge will be broadcast at Moore Field today during the Los Angeles county finals of the junior Olympic games, commencing at 1:30 o'clock. Admission is free and stands have been erected for 10,000 spectators.

HARVARD STADIUM, CAMBRIDGE (Mass.) May 25. (AP)—Led by a stalwart, curly-haired sophomore, Eric Krenz, who shattered two meet records with sensational performances in the discus and shotput, Leland Stanford University's brawny band of athletes swept out in front today in defense of the intercollegiate A.A.A.A.

Seven Trojan Athletes in Finals Today

Southern California, Stanford and California qualified a grand total of twenty-three men in yesterday's preliminaries to the I.C.A.A.A. meet at Cambridge. The Trojans have eight qualifying places with seven men as Charley Borah won the right to compete in both the 100 and 220.

Stanford earned thirteen places with twelve men, Eric Krenz being the big noise in both the shot and discus, wrecking Bud Houser's old records in these two events.

California qualified four men.

The Trojans who will compete today are Borah, 100 and 220; Draper, 100; Hill, broad jump; Barnes, pole vault; Webber, high hurdles; Payne, low hurdles; Graham, low hurdles.

Stanford's representatives are Krenz, shot and discus; Rothert, shot; Forster, shot; Sparling and Kibby, javelin; Spencer, 440; Edmonds, pole vault; Nichols, high hurdles; West, low hurdles; Dyer and Zombro, broad jump, and King, high jump. In addition the Cards have Coe, two-miler, the eight-lap athletes not being required to qualify.

California has Van Tress, half-mile; Phillips, discus; Curtice, javelin, and Talbot, 440.

Morrison of Stanford has to run in a semifinal 440 heat today to win the right to qualify for the finals.

track-and-field championship.

Twelve of the Stanford clan collected a total of thirteen places in the trials to determine qualifiers for tomorrow's finals, thereby trenching the Cardinals firmly in the position of favorites to capture the team title for the second successive year. They set the qualifying pace only after an unexpected stiff tussle with Yale, which captured eleven places. This established the Ellis as the chief hope of the East against the far-western tide, but with small chance of checking it.

Stanford's strength was so pronounced in most of the events as to bring the prediction from the experts that the Cardinals would easily tally more than forty points tomorrow, enough to distance any rival squad, whether it is Yale or one of the next three in the qualifying score—Southern California, Harvard and Cornell.

TIED FOR THIRD

The Trojans, with their sprint ace, Charley Borah, in sparkling form, tied Harvard and Cornell for third position in the preliminary tests. Each gained eight places. California, third contender from the Far West, finished well down the list of twenty-six colleges participating in the scoring with four places.

Three I.C.A.A. championship meet records tumbled altogether to add color to an otherwise unexciting day in which favorites swept along easily to clinch their places, saving the big efforts for tomorrow.

Alfred Bates of Penn State brought the day to a sparkling close when he leaped to a new broad-jump mark of 24ft.,

Cardinals Have Most Men in Finals Today

In 3-16, he beat out his closest rival, Kim Dyer of Stanford, and displaced his own previous standard of 165, 1/16, set last year.

Krenz, only Stanford star to place in more than one event, was in spectacular form as he turned in the other two record-breaking performances of the afternoon. Stocky, 25-year-old Eric, who takes an 18-pound weight around with him to strengthen his wrists, started his work by heaving up a new shot-put record of 121, 1/4, beating out his teammate Halton Rothert, by only a half-inch in an occasional weight duel as the meet has been in some time. Both were over the former record of 497, 1/16, made two years ago by Bud Houser of Southern California.

BACK AGAIN

Krenz came back a little later to whirl the discus out to a new record mark of 194, 1/16. This time it wasn't even close, for Krenz' toss was more than nine feet beyond that of his nearest competitor, Phillips of California. Again, it was one of Houser's marks that lunched. The former record of 121, 3/4 in. was set by Houser in the same stadium in 1928. Like Krenz, he was in record-breaking form in two events on one and the same afternoon.

Stanford's giants, Krenz, Rothert and Forester, took three of the six qualifying places in the shot-put while a fourth, Fleishacker, missed out by inches. This mass-attack show, however, was duplicated by Cornell, which put three men into the hammer-throwing finals and by Yale, with three qualifiers in the 220-yard low hurdles.

The chief Stanford pupils of Coach Dick Timpler to get into the selected list were Captain Bud Spencer, who turned in the best 440-yard time of the day, 49 2-10; Ward Edwards in the pole vault, along with his two foremost rivals, Barnes of Southern California and Carr of Yale; Ross Nichols in the high hurdles; Clarence West, in the low hurdles; Sparling and Kirby, in the javelin throw; Bob King, in the high jump; Fred Zombro and Kim Dyer, in the broad jump.

Stanford then qualified men in nine of the thirteen events in which tests were held. Yale concentrated its forces principally in four events, including five men in the hurdles, two in the pole vault, Steady and Carr, and two in the quarter-mile. Engle and Laurence Hunt, who is favored to give Spencer at Stanford and Ray Barber of Syracuse, a real battle for 440-yard honors tomorrow.

UP TO BOBBAH

Southern California's prospects rest chiefly on the shoulders of Charley Bobbah in the two dashes, Barnes in the pole vault, and in the low hurdles, Graham and Patti. Bobbah's principal strength is in the weights and hurdles, where Caruthers is a double contender. Harvard's hopes rest in large measure on her short-distance runners, including Art French, whose performances in the dashes established him as an outstanding rival of the champion, Bobbah. The Crimson captain, Al O'Neill, was disqualified for cutting across his field at the start of the first 440-yard-run trial.

Bobbah, who seemed to show no ill effects from his recent leg injury, was not hard pressed to beat Jimmy Dakey of Holy Cross by a yard in the 200-yard trial in 18, or to beat Harvard of Syracuse by three yards in the 220-yard dash in 22 1-16. French, the Harvard ace, equaled Bobbah's time in the century, as did Jimmy Quinn of Holy Cross, while the Crimson flyer turned in his 128 in 18, flat. Fubwell Scott, Pennsylvania captain, pulled up a bit lame after qualifying in the 100 and did not start in the farlong.

There were no reports of consequences in the preliminaries nor any developments to mar the prospect of spectacular dashes tomorrow in such events as the high jump, between King of Stanford and Maynard of Dartmouth, or the pole vault, where Barnes, Carr and Edwards will set sail in attempts to break the world's mark of 14 feet 1 1/2 inches, now held by Barnes.

WRIGHT LEADS

Newsed Wright of Cornell led the hammer throws with the best toss of his career, 267, 1/16, while Cyril Blass of Georgetown, the champion, set the pace for the javelin tossers with a mark of 267, 1/16.

The complete list of qualifying places gained: Stanford 11, Yale 11, Southern California, Harvard and Cornell 8 each, Dartmouth 7, Pittsburgh 6, Syracuse 5, California, Georgetown, Holy Cross, Pennsylvania and Penn State 4 each, Stanford and Princeton 3 each, Bates, Brown and New York University 2 each, Boston College, Colgate, Columbia, Maine, Massachusetts Tech, Michigan State, Swarthmore and Williams 1 each.

The East gained eight of the ten qualifying places in the 120-yard high hurdles. Ross Nichols of Stanford was the only far westerner to win one of the five heats, his time being 12 1-16, while John Collier, Brown, turned in the best performance by taking his heat in 12 3-16.

Webber, Southern California, qualified in the heat won by Collier but two of his teammates, Miller and Reynolds, were shut out in the second and fifth heats, respectively. West of Stanford, a point-over last year, also was eliminated, in the heat won by Edwards of Yale. West was beaten out by inches for the second place by Krottsch at Pittsburgh.

The start of the 440-yard trials was marked by the disqualification of the Harvard captain, Al O'Neill,

LEWIS SEEKS ON NEXT MA

Ed "Strangler" Lewis, world's most champion, is not particularly anxious to wrestle either Jim Brewering or Nick Lutze here June 13. Fremont Lou Duro announced last night following a telephonic conversation with Billy Sandow, manager of the champion, who is in London at present.

Duro stated that Sandow has requested that a two-hour limit limit be set on the bout in which Lewis defends his title against the winner of Monday night's feature match at Olympic between Nick Lutze and Jim Brewering. Monday night's bout is to a finish. The bout between Lewis and the winner of the elimination tournament was also scheduled to go to a finish, according to Duro.

Lewis has been signed for the for cutting across the field too quickly after the gun barked. When the heat was restarted, Phil Edwards, New York University recruit, stepped out to lead all the way and win by eight yards in 1:07 5-16, exactly equalling the time of the winner in the other trial, Waddy of Bates College.

In the heat won by Edwards, Kenneth Van Tress of California, next to last in a field of twelve as they came into the last stretch, uncocked a great burst of speed to pull up into fourth place and qualify for the finals.

The unexpected Stanford captain, Emerson (Budd) Spencer, rumped off with his 440-yard heat in the fastest time of the trials, 49 2-16. He wasn't pressed to beat Engle of Yale by two yards.

Barbati, Syracuse ace, Ross of Yale and Brope of Dartmouth, chief hopes of the East, also won their heats in good style.

Morrison, Spencer's Stanford team-mate, got off flying in the fourth heat and was leading into the stretch only to be beaten by Brope and St. Clair of Syracuse. This forced Morrison to run in an extra heat tomorrow to determine whether he would qualify for the finals. This heat will be for third and fourth place men, the winner to get into the finals.

Harvard and Yale had a field day in the 220-yard low hurdles trials, each winning two preliminary heats and starting in the best performance when West of the Elm and Tupper of the Crimson, each was clocked in 24 7-16.

The two Southern Californians, Graham and Patti, qualified easily by taking second place in their heats but West, Stanford, was a poor fourth in the heat won by Tupper.

IGHTY CARD SQUAD SCORES FORTY-THREE POINTS TO WIN

Trojans Drop to Sixteenth Place When Cromwell Withdraws Borah and Draper From Sprints Because of Driving Rain and Wet Track

BY ALAN J. GOULD
Associated Press Sports Writer

HARVARD STADIUM, CAMBRIDGE, May 26. (AP)—Mud, rain and the combined track-and-field strength of more than a score of eastern colleges today could not stop the brawny sons of Stanford University from carrying off the intercollegiate A.A.A.A. team championship for the second straight year.

HOW STANFORD WON HONORS

Here's how Stanford scored 43 points to retain the I.C.A.A.A. title at Cambridge yesterday:

Krenz, first in shot and discus, 10 points.

Hickert, second in shot, 4 points.

Forster, fifth in shot, 1 point.

Kibby, third in javelin, 3 points.

Spurling, fourth in javelin, 2 points.

King, first in high jump, 5 points.

Oyer, second in broad jump, 4 points.

Southern, third in broad jump, 3 points.

Edmonds, tie for third in pole vault, 2 points.

Nichols, first in high hurdles, 5 points.

Barnes, second in pole vault, 4 points.

Hill, fourth in broad jump, 2 points.

California's 5 points came in this manner:

Spencer, second in 440, 4 points.

The Trojans picked up 6 points in the following manner:

Carler, fifth in mile, 1 point.

Phillips, second in discus, 4 points.

Eleven Stanford athletes, led by the stalwart sophomore, Eric Krenz, piled up a total of forty-three points to spread-eagle the field and win by the biggest margin any victorious team has had in thirteen years.

Yale, carrying the forlorn hopes of the East, finished second with 25 1-3 points, while Cornell and Pennsylvania State tied for third with 15 points apiece.

ERIC KRENZ

Capturing four first places and scoring altogether in eight of the fifteen events, Stanford had a runaway of it from start to finish. It wasn't close at any stage of the rain-swept finals.

High jump, final—Won by R. W. King, Stanford, 6ft., three tied for second at 5ft. 10in.: C. T. Russell, Brown, T. E. Maynard, Dartmouth, and Benjamin Hedges, Princeton; three tied for fifth, G. K. Pierce, Dartmouth, J. A. Stratton, Pennsylvania, and Hugh Carr, Yale, at 5ft. 8in.

Pole vault—Won by Sales Carr, Yale, 13ft. 6in.; second, Lee Barnes, U.S.C., 12ft. 6in.; three tied for third at 12ft. 6in.: R. W. Edmonds, Stanford, V. W. Pickard, Pittsburgh, and P. B. Hurdy, Yale.

Broad jump, final—Won by A. H. Babin, Penn. State, 44ft. 6in., (new I.C.A.A. record), second, G. W. Dyer, Stanford, 34ft. 9in., third, Fred Zamvo, Stanford, 23ft. 9in., fourth, J. T. Hill, Southern California, 23ft. 9in., fifth, A. C. Thomas, Harvard, 22ft. 9in.

Hammer throw, final—Won by W. G. Wright, Cornell, 167ft. 7in.; second, E. F. Black, Maine, 167ft. 4in.; third, D. H. G. Pittsford, 163ft. 4in.; fourth, H. N. Cohen, Cornell, 151ft. 7in.; fifth, W. L. Worden, Cornell, 150ft. 6in.

HIGHEST SINCE 1917

Stanford's winning total was the highest since 1917, when Cornell won with 47 points, and the margin of 17 2-3 points over the second-place Yale aggregation was the biggest since Cornell swamped the field in 1915, scoring 45 1-2 points to Harvard's 26.

It was also the seventh time in eight years that the premier eastern track-and-field college title has gone to the west coast. Southern California, which has won twice before, and California, three times winner, were not in the running today. The Trojans, due to the withdrawal of their sprinting ace, Charley Borah, 1927 champion, and his running mate, Weldon Draper, picked up only six points. California tallied five.

With the team title a one-team affair, the battle for individual honors in the mud and rain held the interest of the soaked and scanty crowd of a few thousand. They saw a series of flashing performances in spite of the wretched conditions, with Ray Barbuti, busy Syracuse captain and football star, emerging to share the chief individual glory with the equally stocky Eric Krenz. These two stocky athletes were the only double winners.

RESTS ON LAURELS

Krenz was able to rest on his laurels of yesterday, clinching first place in the shotput and discus with his record-breaking preliminary throw that no one was able to threaten today, but Barbuti was forced to go out and earn his twin victories in the 220-yard dash and 440-yard run.

The big Syracuse flyer beat out the Stanford captain, Emerson Spencer, the favorite, by a yard in a thrilling finish in 44.8s. Apparently none the worse for the wear and tear of this grueling event, Barbuti came back an hour and a half later to win the 220 with a sensational finish that overcame Barron Rockwell of Princeton in 22.5s.

The sprints were robbed much of their prospective thrill by the withdrawal of Borah, double winner last year, and Draper, but it would have taken the best Southern Californians have shown to have beaten either Barbuti in the running, or Jimmy Quinn, the Holy Cross flyer, who took the 100-yard final in 21.8s. sensational time in the sloppy going.

to Harvard in the one and two-mile runs, both of which were decided in the last stretch in a race of excitement. Ralph Lotzmann, steady little Gronson mile, came from behind with a beautifully timed last lap sprint to dethrone the champion, Hal Cox of Penn State. A little later Jimmy Held of Harvard duplicated his team-mate's sterling feat by romping from the rear with a tremendous burst of finishing speed to beat Joe Hagen of Columbia, the indoor champion, Benson of Cornell, Wells of Princeton and Brown of Michigan State, in a thrilling dash through the week.

Michigan State, exhibiting distance running talent this year where they were slight ones in the week a year ago, produced two pace setters in Brown and Wilmarth after the first mile had been covered. Benson of Cornell took command on the half lap and looked a winner until he faded in the last fifty yards, dropping back to fifth, as Held swept past, followed by Hagen, of Columbia, Brown of Michigan State, and Wells of Princeton.

Cox of Stanford, wielding a baton to help him keep proper stride, kept up with the leaders until the last lap and finished seventh.

BORAH WITHDRAWN

Because of the slippery condition of the track, Charles Borah, holder of both the 100 and 200-yard sprint titles and his team-mate, Wilton Draper, were withdrawn from the semifinals by their coach. It was explained that the coach took such action and drastic action rather than run the risk of injury to either of his stars who are looked upon as Olympic hopes. His action was concurred in by Lawson Robertson, the Olympic head coach.

Borah, who recently recovered from a leg strain was awarded a place in the Olympic final trials here in July as was Draper.

Another champion was created in the 100-yard high hurdles when the trim Stanford star, Ross Nichols, galloped over the sticks faultlessly to win from John Collier of Brown by inches in an exciting finish in a race that saw the 100 winner, Wells of Dartmouth, fifth and last.

The low hurdles were a romp for Kierthorse of Yale, after the two Southern Californians, Farns and Graham, along with the lone Stanford entry, West, were eliminated in the semifinal trials. The three Eli timber-toppers figured in the final.

The three I.C.A.A. championship meet records set yesterday all withstood fresh attacks today and remained as the sole record product of the carnival. Krens, who put the shot out to a new mark of 50 ft. 1 in. yesterday, was unable to do better than 49 ft. 6 in. His team-mate, Harold Robert, was equally unsuccessful in efforts to better his fine mark of 50 ft. 4 in. in the trials. Krens's discus mark of 124 ft. 1 in. likewise was safe from further attack while no broad jumper was able to improve on the preliminary mark of 24 ft. 10 3/4 in. that clinched first place for Al Bates of Penn State.

Defying the elements, Helen W. Carr of Dubuque, Iowa, and Yale, was content with beating his foremost rival, Lee Barnes of Southern California, in the pole vault.

After winning the event with a vault of 14 ft. 6 in., Carr set sail for a new world's record height with the bar at 14 ft. 3 in. Three times the sandy-haired saw-foot Eli splashed down the runway and lifted himself aloft, but he knocked the bar all on each occasion, coming closest to going over on his first attempt. Barnes, who set the world's mark at 14 ft. 1 in., on the Pacific Coast, was unable to better 13 ft. and finished second.

STRONG IN FIELD

Stanford's strength was distributed chiefly in the field events, but Nichols in the high hurdles and Spencer in the quarter mile picked up nine points to add to the total of ten tallied in the shotput by Krens, Robert and Foster, five by Krens in the discus, two in the pole vault by Ward Edwards, who tied for third place; seven by the broad jumper, Dyer and Easton, who took second and third positions; five in the javelin by Kirby and Spurling, who reversed their preliminary positions and finished third and fourth, and five more by Jack King, who returned to the high jump championship after a year's leave, dethroning the 100 winner, Maynard of Dartmouth.

The sole Cardinal contenders today who failed to tally were West, in the low hurdles; Morrison, in the 40, and Cox, who finished seventh in the two-mile run.

Yale produced its best efforts in the pole vault and hurdles, taking five of the 100 places in the timber-topping events, but the crack 200 quarter-mile, Ross, upon whom high hopes had been set, lost out to Marbell and Spencer.

Cox's defeat was a blow to Penn State, but the Nittany Lions did well enough to tie Cornell, the indoor champion, for third place. It took the last event, the hammer throw, to give Cornell half its total of 24 points and move the Ithaca team up the list.

The final point standings:
Stanford, 43; Yale, 25 1-3; Cornell and Penn State, 10 each; Syracuse, 15; Harvard, 14; Georgetown, 11; Princeton and Michigan, 10 each; Columbia, Holy Cross and Pittsburgh, 8 each; Dartmouth, 7 1-4; Brown and New York University, 7 each; Southern California, 4; California, 3; Maine, 4; Pennsylvania, 1 1-3; Colgate, Swarthmore and Swarthmore, 1 each.
