

Olympic Club Is Next for S.C. Runners

With the first big dual meet of the year less than two weeks off, University of Southern California track and field athletes settled down today to training for the annual interclass championships to be held Friday afternoon at Bovard Field as the final practice affair of the season.

Furnishing the first spirited opposition of the year, the Olympic Club squad of San Francisco will come South the 28th inst. for a meet with the Trojans, University of California at Berkeley will send its team here for the first big intercollegiate meet of the season for S.C. on April 11, putting the Trojan track season in full swing and marking the opening of Southern California's campaign to retain the intercollegiate championship laurels it won last year.

In this week's interclass meet, all athletes of the university will be eligible, including the varsity and freshman ineligibles, according to Coach Dean Cromwell. Following the interclass contest, the Southern California track and field schedule is as follows:

- March 28--Olympic Club at Los Angeles Coliseum.
- April 11--California at Coliseum.
- April 18--Los Angeles Athletic Club at Coliseum.
- April 25--A.A.U. open championships.
- May 2--Stanford at Palo Alto.
- May 9--West Coast relay championship at Fresno.
- May 16 -- California intercollegiate championships at Coliseum.
- May 29--I.C.A.A.A. at Philadelphia.
- June 5, 6--N.C.A.A. at Chicago.