higher. Howe's fourth place was secured by clearing 13ft. 10in., best he ever did.

Due to the silly ruling on ties, Thurber gained only third place in the high jump even though he went as high as anybody in the event. He and Albritton and Cruter tied for first at 6ft. 6³/₄in., but the ruling on first to clear, etc., left Thurber in third spot. For some reason the highly touted Negroes were not up to their usual stuff, Mel Walker, Albritton's team-mate at Ohio State, getting only fourth.

PEACOCK OUT

Southern California's chances soared when it was announced that Eulace Peacock, Temple Negro, who pulled a muscle in yesterday's trials, would not go to his marks in the 100-yard dash. Allen Tolmich of Wayne also withdrew at the last minute to concentrate on the hurdles, leaving only seven starters.

It was assumed that Adrian Talley and George Boone would grab an extra helping of points due to Peacock's absence. But when the race was run Troy took a sock on the chin as Talley himself fell a victim to a pulled muscle. Running in third place and coming like the wind at the seventy-yard mark where he usually begins his biggest drive, Talley jerked up suddenly and the field swept past him.

Little Sam Stoller of Michigan, the forgotten man of Uncle Sam's sprint relay team at Berlin, won in 9.7s., having just a thin edge over Ben Johnson of Columbia. Boone ran well to take fourth behind Dunn of Kansas Teachers.

FENSKE TRIUMPHS

Charles Fenske, Wisconsin's able distance runner, captured the mile after a spirited battle with Jim Smith, Indiana Negro, and Dave Rogan of Kentucky. The latter led until midway in the next to the last lap when Smith jumped out in front. Rogan regained the lead as they came around for the final spin, but Smith and Fenske poured it on down the backstretch and Rogan faded.

Smith flew around the last curve holding a two-yard margin over Fenske, but the Wisconsin flyer put on a furious finish which the Negro could not match. Fenske raced to the tape a winner by three yards in 4m. 13.9s.

Leading the shot put yesterday, Jim Reynolds of Stanford was unable to better his mark of 51.76ft., and as a result wound up in third place behind Sam Francis of Nebraska and Dimitri Zaitz of Boston College.

FRANCIS CUTS LOOSE

Zaitz took an early lead in the fring today at 52ft., but lost it when Francis bettered this on his first trial. Big Sam, one of the few southpaw shot putters, then warmed to his work and let one go 53.50ft., which proved to be the winning distance.

Michigan's William Watson, who did 53ft. yesterday, only to foul, hit this figure again today, but again fouled. He wound up fourth behind Reynolds. Owen Hansen of the Trojans did not reach the final, he and Tom Montgomery of Stanford being two of three men eliminated in the semifinals today. Montgomery was the victim of an unfortunate accident when the boys were warming up. As he bent over to pick up his shot, Zaitz hit him squarely in the back with the iron ball. It looked for a minute as if Montgomery might be badly hurt, but he soon recovered and took part in the event.

Lorin Benke of Washington State ran a gritty race to capture the quarter-mile in a driving finish, with Ray Malott of Stanford. There were nine starters and Benke and Malott were in the last two lanes. Gill of Boston College jumped into an early lead down the straightaway, but when the real running began on the backstretch it was Benke and Malott who did the business. It looked as if Malott would win about fifty yards from home, but the gritty Benke dug in and, stride by stride, managed to overhaul his foe and hit the tape just a whisker to the good. The time was 47.1s. McCurdy of Stanford, who looked so good yesterday, was boxed most of the way today and could get no better than sixth, which was a surprise.

STALEY THIRD

One of the finest races of the day was the high hurdles, where Forrest Towns of Georgia, Allan Tolmich of Wayne and Roy Staley of S.C. went over the last hurdle together and then fought it out to the tape. Towns got there first and Tolmich beat Staley for second by sticking out his neck in a furious lunge for the string. The time was 14.3s. Fritz Pollard, member of last year's Olympic team, got tangled up in the second hurdle and finally dropped out altogether after hanging into another barrier. Bob Osgood of Michigan grabbed fifth, behind Verne Sumner of Kansas Teachers.

Towns has now won fifty-seven consecutive races, undoubtedly the most amazing record in the history of hurdling. His last defeat was in 1935, administered by Leroy Kirkpatrick in the national A.A.U. junior championships. They say Towns hasn't even knocked a hurdle down since his freshman days at Georgia.

SOPER PLACES

Chuck Soper helped Troy's cause by getting off one of his best heaves to place fifth in the javelin and bag two valuable points. Chuck did 202ft. 7in., which was only four inches out of third spot.

Lowell Todd of San Jose State saw his qualifying mark of 214ft. 2 3/4in. stand up for first today.

Bill Reitz of the Bruins took second at 208ft. 1 1/4in.

Alton Terry, American record-holder from Hardin-Simmons, was on hand for the meet but couldn't compete because his university had not paid his entry fee of $25.

Johnny Woodruff, giant Pittsburgh Negro, lived up to his Olympic games reputation by winning the half-mile in the new meet record time of 1m. 50.3s. The colored man is one of the most amazing runners I ever saw. It is too bad he does not come south to compete in the Big Ten meet at Los Angeles Saturday. He's a sight for sore eyes.

BUSH SECOND

Ross Bush ran a great race to nip Chuck Beetham of Ohio State at the tape for second honors. Woodruff took the lead immediately and running with his tremendous loping stride quickly opened a wide gap between himself and the rest of the pack. It didn't seem humanly possible that anybody could come close to him, but Bush staged his customary fighting finish and the Negro's margin at the tape was about four yards.

Columbia's Ben Johnson won the 220-yard dash in 21.3s. The little Negro flyer got away to a fast start, led all the way and had enough stuff left to fight off a terrific challenge by Jack Weiershauser, who beat Lee Orr of Washington State for second. Weiershauser was slow off his marks or he might have whipped Johnson.

REDS GRAB DISCUS

Stanford bagged eighteen points in the discus when Hugh Gribbin, in third place during yesterday's trials, advanced to second behind Team-mate Pete Zagar, who was the winner at 156ft. 3in. Gribbin was only a foot back of his pal. Phil Gaspar annexed fourth for Troy, his mark being 140ft. 10in.

George Boone picked up two points for Southern California by placing fifth in the broad jump with a leap of 24ft. 8 3/4in. Kermit King, Kansas Teachers Negro, won with a fine jump of 25ft. 3 1/4in., which was only one-quarter of an inch better than California's Arnold Nutting.

Gregory Rice of Notre Dame established a new N.C.A.A. record in the two-mile, galloping the distance in the splendid time of 9m. 14.2s. Barrel-chested and gifted with strong legs, Rice put on a terrific sprint on the last lap and passed Bill Feller of Drake forty yards from home. The only Coast runner to place was Voochies of California, who managed to get sixth.

One-mile run—Won by Fenske, Wisconsin; second, Smith, Indiana; third, Trutt, Indiana; fourth, Rice, Notre Dame; fifth, Rogan, Kentucky; sixth, Alexander, Stanford. Time, 4m. 13.9s.
